november newsletter & class schedule

class schedule & descriptions: more cozy than a lap full of kittens!*

beginning knitting: i asked miss patty why people should learn how to knit. she replied, "to keep your mind occupied." when i asked her why we should keep our minds occupied she said, "to keep you from being dull." don't be dull. learn how to knit. (to be fair she also said when you learn how to knit you meet the nicest people, but you and i both know that the whole dull thing is totally true) $35 + supplies

tues. nov. 8 thru 22.....6:30-8:30pm

fingerless mitts: we've acquired a lovely pattern from an independent designer. andrea whipped up these beautiful fingerless mitts for the state fair. this pattern was specifically written for manos serena, which a blend of baby alpaca and pima cotton. it's super soft and we've got several new colorways. make a pair for someone you love (yourself included!)

$28 + supplies (pattern included)

thurs. nov 10 & 17.....6:30-8:30pm

* as knitters and crocheters don't we all have idyllic visions of curling up by the fire with our knitting and a furry friend snuggled at our feet? and by vision i mean a full blown hallucination fuelled by spiked apple cider and allergy medication. as lovely as a lap full of any furry creatures seems, it only lasts as long as they are all asleep, or drugged. can you imagine a full blown cat fight occurring on your thighs? not so cozy. we are totally more comfortable than clawed thighs. hang out with us.
cheers.....shannon

holy fabulous felt, batman!

felting: aka shrinky dinks for adults;
more fun than should ever be allowed;
perfect for beginners, intermediate, or advanced felted doll class: back by popular demand, deb w is teaching her class on those adorable felted dolls. you are limited only by your own imagination. in one day you'll have everything you need to felt your own little friend. $25 + supplies

sat. nov. 12.....noon-4pm felted purse: featuring a stylish rectangle structure and accent pleats, this handbag is an excellent accessory. and the best thing? felting creates a durable fabric that will last, plus it does an excellent job of masking any mistakes you might make when you're knitting it. if you haven't tried felting, this is the class for you! $35 + supplies

sat. nov. 12 thru 26.....10-noon felted clogs: one of the biggest challenges for knitters during this season is finding patterns for gifts that the whole family will enjoy and use. these felted slippers are teenager tested and husband approved. durable, warm, and a blast to knit. $35 + supplies

sweater wreath: this might be one of the coolest christmas decorations i've seen in a while. we're going to make wreaths from repurposed sweaters and add felted flowers and buttons. in one afternoon you'll have your own cool creation to hang on your door, and there is no knitting knowledge necessary! this is the perfect class for you and your crafty family members and friends to do together. so you bring the sweaters and we'll provide the "guts" for the wreaths. andrea will teach you how to put it all together and give you a pattern for felted flowers. $30
